

MEET Suzane Northrop

Suzane Northrop began practicing mediumship twenty-six years ago, a time when there were very few top caliber female mediums. She has established herself as a nationally recognized trance medium and expert in psychic phenomena. The author of four books, she has also lectured extensively in the United States, Great Britain and Canada, and consults for various police departments across the U.S. Although a frequent guest of many television and radio shows, she still finds the time to conduct private small group and telephone sessions.

Although she consistently provides extraordinary evidence that our consciousness survives our physical deaths, Suzane's philosophy is consistent with responsible mediumship, "What is as equally important to me as a medium is helping others validate their own connections/contact with loved ones who have passed over." She is the first to tell you that it is not a medium's job to convince others of what she knows and believes. However, she does consider it important to encourage others to keep an open mind and learn from the body of research in the field. She also urges others to work out their relationship problems while in the physical, as it is harder to work them out later.

Suzane has participated in university research, has been certified by Forever Family Foundation, and retains a keen interest in science. She can be contacted via her website: www.theseance.com.
